APPENDIX D:

SITE PHOTOGRAPHS
Figure D: Map showing the location of site photographs (Approx scale 1: 2 000)

Cabriere Estate BAR E12/2/3/1-B2/22-0201/06

Appendix D: 2 / 7
Figure D5: View looking eastward across the proposed Portion A of Erf 217.

Figure D6: View looking eastward across the vineyards on Erf 217.

Figure D7: View looking westward across the vineyard on Portion A of Erf 217, toward a residential suburb of Rawsonville.

Figure D8: View looking North-westward up with a number of mature indigenous and exotic trees lining Botha Street.

Figure D9: View looking north-westward from the northerly corner of Portion A of Erf 217, toward the neighbouring farm worker housing.

Figure D10: View across newly service vacant plots toward the residential suburb of Rawsonville.
Figure D11: The small Jordaan Family cemetery just outside the eastern boundary of the proposed Portion A of Erf 217.

Figure D12: The small Stofberg Family cemetery just outside the northern boundary of the proposed Portion A of Erf 217.

Figure D13: The small cemetery for farm workers outside the southern boundary of the proposed Portion A of Erf 217.

Figure D14: The Fairhills Craft Cooperative, an empowerment initiative on Cabriere (proposed Remainder of Erf 217).

Figure D15: The Fairhills day-care crèche for children of the Cabriere Estate’s farm workers.

Figure D16: Soil survey excavated 8 pits to determine the agricultural potential of the proposed Portion A of Erf 217.
Figure D17A: View looking southward along Botha Street, toward the entrance of the proposed residential estate.

Figure D17B: View looking northward along Botha Street, toward the entrance of the proposed residential estate.

Figure D17C: View looking northward along Botha Street, taken from the entrance of the proposed residential estate.

Figure D18A: View looking northward along Botha Street, taken from the entrance of the proposed residential estate.

Figure D18B: View looking south-westward along Porter Street, taken from the entrance of the proposed residential estate.

Figure D18C: View looking southward along Botha Street, taken from the entrance of the proposed residential estate.